Universal Service Contribution Methodology, WC Docket No. 06-122

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On November 5, 2010, Luisa Lancetti, Indra Chalk, Dan Williams and Jill Mounsey, all of T-Mobile USA, Inc. ("TMUS"), and the undersigned, counsel to TMUS, met with Margaret Wiener, Patrick DeGraba, Joseph Levin, and Jane Jackson, all of the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau; and Travis Litman, Amy Bender, Douglas Slotten, Al Lewis, Rebekah Goodheart and Randy Clark (by phone), all of the Wireline Competition Bureau, to discuss the above-captioned proceedings. The TMUS representatives emphasized that in implementing universal service and intercarrier compensation reform, the Commission should: 1) accelerate the glide path to bill and keep for non-rural areas; 2) implement immediately rules to mitigate the effects of traffic pumping; and 3) encourage the evolution of the existing circuit-switched network toward IP-enabled broadband. TMUS representatives also relied on the attached talking points in making their presentation.
